Soo Line Refuses To Install Signal At Depot Crossing

Says Location Not Dangerous Although Two Men Are Killed There

The Soo Line won't place a lighted warning signal at the Depot crossing where two Antioch residents were killed recently.

This was made known in a lengthy polite letter from the legal department to Village Atty. Edward C. Jacobs. The letter will be presented to the village board at its next meeting.

The letter said that the matter of an automatic signal at the crossing had been presented to the railroad at an earlier date and that the railroad and the Illinois Commerce commission representative had concluded that the crossing is not a particularly dangerous place because of the good view in both directions.

Nothing was said about the view at night.

The railroad officials said that the company will share with the village the cost of a wig-wag signal at $9,000. (Other railroads say they cost $5,000.)

A greater demand for the signals is made in view of the growth of the area east of the village and the fact that the county highways are being improved for a greater amount of traffic.

Santa to Arrive Earlier Than Expected to Meet All Antioch Children

Will Land in Village at 11 Saturday, Nov. 28, for 8 Hour Stay

North Pole, Nov. 18—Will arrive in Antioch at 11 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 28. Am coming earlier than first planned so that I can give more time this year to the children. (Signed) Santa Claus.

This was the message George Borovicka, an officer of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce received from Old Saint Nick who last year found that he didn't have enough time to meet all of the children when he arrived at 2 p.m.

The committee is arranging to meet Santa at the intersections of Rtes. 173 and 21 at 11 a.m. and seated on a float he will head a parade to the Antioch Rescue Squad building where he will receive his little friends up to 7 o'clock that evening.

A well decorated Christmas tree will be placed in the Rescue Squad station to give the place a holiday appearance.

A treat will be given to every child and Santa will inquire of each youngster what he wants for Christmas.

Santa Claus said he was coming early this year so that there would be plenty of time to fill the orders and he has so many other places to go.

Santa's message didn't say where he would spend Thanksgiving, but members of the Chamber of Commerce are hoping that he doesn't get sick from eating too much turkey. They don't want any disappointment to the children.

L. D. Powles, Family Return From Japan; Completes Air Service

L. D. Powles, former village clerk, arrived in Gurnee last week accompanied by his wife and daughter, Charlene for a visit with relatives until Dec. 1, when they will go to Florida for the winter.

Powles, a lieutenant-colonel in the air force, was called into service as a reserve officer two years ago, and for more than a year was stationed in Misawa, Japan, where his family joined him this year. Misawa is on the Honshu island where there is much snow and cold weather. The warmth of this area and Florida will be greatly welcomed by them.

"Deacon," as Powles is known, does not know where he and his family will locate. He was formerly employed at the Ford Garage which has changed ownership since he left. He is a skilled accountant.

At Gurnee the Powles are visiting Mrs. Powles' daughter, Mrs. Arthur Maleck.

Two Garages Burn at Little Silver Lake; Many Grass Fires

One of the largest of grass fires this year occurred Sunday at the Ackerman's south of Rte. 173.

Antioch firemen spent several hours during the morning battling the fire which swept over a wide area. They returned Monday evening to soak a peat bog.

On Sunday afternoon the firemen extinguished another fire at Rte. 173 and Deer Lake rd.

Damage of $2,000 was caused Monday morning to two garages at the Turner property on the south shore of Little Silver lake. The garages caught from some burning rubbish.

A grass fire on the west side of Channel lake at the Runyard property caused another alarm Monday.

Youth Center Drive Gathers Momentum; Work Day Saturday

2 Bus Loads of Teen-agers Visit LaGrange Center; Meet Tuesday

Momentum in the drive to get a youth center for Antioch gathered this week as 125 boys and girls of high school age signed pledges to earn $5 for the building fund.

Saturday of this week was designated as "Work Day" and at that time the youngsters will seek work at 50 cents an hour to earn money to fulfill their pledges. They may choose any kind of work that is available.

A general meeting is called for 7 p.m. Tuesday at the American Legion Home when results of the pledges will be announced.

At that time a name will be chosen for the new center.

The teenagers will be guests at 8 p.m. Saturday of the Old Time Dance Club at the Antioch High School when to the music of the Bessie Barnes orchestra they will be introduced to square dancing.

Eighty students, accompanied by chaperones, went to La Grange, Ill., in two busses last Saturday evening and saw the youth center in operation there. The La Grange students were quite friendly and the Antioch crowd returned with greater enthusiasm for the establishment of a center here.

Sequoit Cagers To Meet Libertyville Fri. In First Game

Coach Dick Scott's fighting Sequoit basketball team will meet a traditional foe, Libertyville High, in the first game of the season Friday evening at the Antioch gym.

Antioch has been on the short end of the score the last five times in games with Libertyville, and the locals are hopeful that the jinx can be broken tomorrow night since all of the games have ended in close scores.

The real test of the Sequoits, touted to be a favorite in conference running, will come Wednesday night when they meet Glenbrook here on the local floor.

The game Wednesday was scheduled for play in the new Glenbrook gym, but it will not be completed in time and the game has been moved here for that reason. Glenbrook, a new school district, at Northbrook, Ill., is a dark horse in the conference, this being their first year in conference competition, and is regarded as a leading contender for conference honors, since it is the largest school in the conference.

Two games will be played each night, the first scheduled to start at 7:15.

Dittman Will Attend I. A. S. B. Conference

High School Principal Albert Dittman has been appointed the official representative to the Thirty-ninth Annual Conference of the Illinois Association of School Boards by the local board of education. The meetings are to take place in the Hotel Sherman Nov. 23 and 24. The Illinois Association of School Administrators will convene at the same time and hold a joint conference with the school.

Some of the topics for discussion are: Legal and Planning Procedures in Schoolhouse Construction; Procedures, Express, Implied and Discretionary, Tenure Law; Provisions and Procedures; Modern Trends in Discipline; Tomorrow's Citizens, Today; Quincy Program for the Gifted Child, the School Activity Program, Responsibilities of School Boards and Administrators; Better Articulation Between High School and Underlying Elementary Schools and File It Right.

Ask Merchants to Enter Floats in Santa Parade

Business men have been asked to enter a float or decorated car in the parade which will greet Santa Claus on his arrival here at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 28. A royal welcome is sought for the jolly old man who is expected to come with well filled bags of candy for the children.

The Chamber of Commerce is asking that each merchant give $5 to bear the expense of the visit.

To mark the opening of the Christmas season merchants also are asked to have their store windows trimmed by Nov. 28.

Churches Plan Special Thanksgiving Services for Thursday, Nov. 26th

Community to Give Thanks for Many Blessings of Past Year

Thanksgiving, a day associated with church attendance and feasting, will be observed with a number of services in the Antioch area next Thursday.

The Methodist churches of Lake Villa and Antioch will unite in a Thanksgiving Day service of worship at 9 a.m. at the Antioch church, the Rev. Kenneth Plummer of Lake Villa and the Rev. Howard Benson of Antioch having charge.

Fr. Alfred J. Henderson of St. Peter's Catholic church has announced a mass at 8 a.m. at which the parishioners will receive communion and give prayers of thanks.

A special Thanksgiving service, open to the general public is announced by the Christian Science church for 11 a.m. The service will be held in the church on Victoria st.

The latter portion of the service will be devoted to spontaneous expressions of gratitude for God's goodness as shown in spiritual growth, healings and other blessings. Selections will be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook in a specially prepared lesson-sermon entitled "Thanksgiving."

Most business places will be closed on Thanksgiving Day.

The lobby of the postoffice will be open only until 9 a.m. Postmaster Roy Kufalk announced. There will be no rural delivery.

The Antioch News will be published on Wednesday instead of Thursday.

Schools will close on Wednesday for the rest of the week.

Antioch Twp. High Has Room for Growth in Next Eight Years

No immediate threat to the capacity enrollment of Antioch Township High School is expected in the near future with the development of the new Lindenhurst and Crown Realty Co. additions in the school district, according to Principal A. L. Dittman. New additions provide few high school students at first, he reasons.

In seven or eight years the increase will be felt to the school's present enrollment of 415, however, for new grade school pupils will be coming into high school.

With an eye to the future the high school board constructed a building that will accommodate 650, with room in the special departments such as music and industrial arts running as high as 750.

Although the new Lehman subdivision on Rte. 59 at Fox Lake will involve a possible 1,800 homes and for the most part will be in Lake Villa township, it will not be in Antioch High school district, but in Grant district, and causes no alarm here.

In both of these large new subdivisions Lake Villa's grade school system will suffer and there is indication that because of present commitments, there won't be enough bonding power to provide building space for schools for both Lindenhurst and the Chesney Farm subdivisions.

Principal Dittman said he is surveying grade schools which feed the Antioch Township High school enrollment, trying to ascertain what the future enrollment of the high school will be.

Two Antioch Boys Star For Campion in Football

Bill Maleck and John Topcer, both of Antioch, were given credit for brilliant exhibition of line play in the recent game between Campion Jesuit High School, Prairie du Chien, Wis., and St. Ambrose Academy in which they as tackles helped Campion win 7 to 0.

Both were on the all-diocesan selection's year ago—Maleck as offensive center and Topcer as defensive tackle.

Campion finished the season Saturday night at Davenport, Ia., before a crowd of 3,000 persons, winning from Ambrose in the last quarter. The Knights won six and lost two games this season.

Wanted: Qualified Managers

A news item in the Wall Street Journal said, "The trend toward bigger stores has led to special college courses to fill the demand for people qualified to manage such operations." The paper then pointed out that Michigan State is now offering a course in food distribution, with special emphasis on supermarket management. Chains and other retailers are eager for the graduates.

This is indicative of the strides that retailing has made in the last generation. Running a successful store isn't just a matter of buying stock, adding on a profit, and then waiting hopefully for patronage. Retailing is one of the most competitive of all enterprises. It is entirely dependent on the tastes, desires and the changing whims of the consumer. The customer who is displeased or disappointed goes elsewhere next time, and usually his trade is permanently lost. Retailing thus offers almost endless opportunity for men and women who wish to make it a career—and have the necessary training and aptitudes.

Moreover, retailing in all its branches, is a field where there's always room at the top. The executives of many of our leading chain systems, for example, began as clerks, warehouse people, assistant buyers, and in other minor capacities. Energy, ambition and intelligence brought them advancement.

Finally, there's nothing dull or static about present day retailing. The retail store is America's show window—and it is as varied and colorful as America itself.

Destructive Taxation

During the war, excise taxes of 15 per cent on passenger fares and 3 per cent on freight charges of common carriers were imposed, primarily as a deterrent to the use of vital railroad facilities for nonessential personal travel and freight shipments. The tax worked well then and is working even better now when there is no need for it. Less than 30 per cent of the seating capacity of passenger trains is now being used.

From 1948 to 1952 the share of intercity passenger travel handled by the railroads, bus lines and airplanes dropped from 28 per cent to only 15 per cent. There is no tax on the use of a private automobile; so naturally the pressure is in the direction of their greater use.

The 3 per cent tax on freight charges discriminates against shippers who use common carrier transportation, and thus encourages businesses wherever possible to develop their own fleets of trucks and barges. The net tax produced by these excise levies is small. When incurred for business reasons, as both of them usually are, they are of course deductible for income tax purposes. Secondly, by driving business away from the common carriers, they reduce taxable income—another tax loss.

Common carriers are absolutely indispensable in times of emergency. The use of their facilities must be encouraged in ordinary times if they are to maintain the capacity which emergency defense needs may demand. About 80 per cent of the federal budget is earmarked for defense. There is no sense buying preparedness and then undermining our national transportation system with punitive taxes.

An analogy is found in the sad case of the rattlesnake that ate its own tail.

Oil Expects More Attacks

The chief executive of one of our leading oil companies recently stated that new attacks on the oil industry may be expected in the next Congress—and that an effort will be made to repeal or reduce oil's depletion allowance of 27 1/2 per cent. This allowance, which applies against taxes, has been in effect for a great many years and has been approved by one Congress after another.

Loss or reduction of the allowance, in the executive's phrase, "would be suicidal." It would abolish the incentive to hunt for new oil sources at a time when such sources are urgently required. More than 80 per cent of all the wildcat wells drilled last year turned out to be worthless. Men will take heavy risks in this kind of pioneering if, and only if, they know that they will be permitted to keep a fair reward if they are successful. They won't take the risks under a "heads I win, tails you lose," situation.

There has been considerable talk about high oil prices. Actually, since 1948 the increase in the cost of petroleum products has been less than five per cent, while the increase for most other commodities has been more than double that figure. And a very substantial part of the profits earned by typical oil companies have been ploughed right back into the business for expansion and improvement of physical facilities. Competition sees to it that we get the best oil products that can be made—and at a fair price.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

In this fair land, "achievement" has been going to town. We buzz through the air with the greatest of ease at 700 miles an hour. We buzz down the highways at 80 with a 200 horse-power motor, and that is achieving—but the horse-power exceeds the brain power of the heavy-footed. We have developed mechanics—we have neglected the thinking mechanism.

If we are smart enough to fly at 700, we should be smart enough to deduct and boil down to the howcome of the scarcity of mental balance in the land. Also, vertebrates at a premium. We are pretty well fed. After that, comes laziness. It is easier to farm out our thinking as we take-off on our long weekends.

I see in my new crystal ball "appearance" in the offing. I see something that looks like a Chamberlain and his umbrella. I see talk in the big city columns—not in the smaller cities—that maybe Russia really and truly and honestly does want peace without a land grab, and maybe after all, we better accept its signature as showing its desire for purity and good behavior for the long pull. Anybody—young or old with just an average IQ—who would accept a "promise to pay" note by Russia, expecting to ever collect, needs see his phrenologist. "Ruggedness" flavored with horse-sense, is the Nation's prime need. Softness has not paid off in Govt., in the schools, any place.

Yours with the low down,

JOE SERRA

Cures and Reasons for Thumbsucking Explained

A parent who attempts to break his child of thumbsucking by scolding, or even coaxing, is not using good judgment. Either practice can be harmful because it denotes a lack of everyday common sense in rearing a child, the Educational Committee of the Illinois State Medical Society advises in HEALTH TALK.

A child's first automatic sense of comfort is through sucking. Whether breast or bottle fed, sucking satisfies his hunger, and it isn't long before he discovers that the thumb is a handy gadget for his mouth and thus is established the thumbsucking habit. Very often the habit suggests that the baby is not getting enough sucking—perhaps he has been taken away too soon from the breast or the bottle, or again he has been put on a nursing schedule that allows too few nursing periods. In any event, the child derives comfort from his sucking, an important factor in why he does it.

As the child grows older, he usually resorts to sucking his thumb to fill an emotional need. Feeling unwanted and alone may be responsible, so he seeks to satisfy himself. Unhappiness, fear and insecurity are emotional problems that loom high on a child's horizon. It is generally conceded that up to the first few years, thumbsucking may be considered normal with the habit acting as a sort of pacifier or comforter. A child's curiosity is an ever present wonder. The more he explores the new things about him, the more his mind is taken away from himself. Usually by the time he reaches the wonders of his five to six years of age world, the thumbsucking habit is forgotten.

If the practice continues beyond this age, however, definite steps for correction should be undertaken by consulting with your physician. In the very young child, it is unlikely that much pressure will be exerted against the roof of the mouth or on the jaws. However, as the child grows older, it is possible to exert greater pressure which, in many cases, may result in some structural defects of the jaws. And then again, in an older child the habit suggests an emotional need, a gap that should be filled to insure normal mental growth.

Thumbsucking is often associated with going to sleep. Parents dislike seeing their children grow up too soon, yet many will berate them for being afraid of the dark or being left alone in the room. They sold these youngsters for not being "grown up," and for having baby fears. Instead of threatening, why not concede a little, so that the child understands you are trying to help overcome these fears?

Shaming, threatening, scolding and conversely bribing and coaxing are all methods used in the correction of thumbsucking. Unfortunately, the application of bitter solutions, splints and other restraints are also tried.

Wise parents will understand that thumbsucking is a normal practice for the very young and that the child will stop it unconsciously as he grows older. They will understand too that, in addition to food and clothing, a good share of affection and love are essential to meet the youngster's emotional needs.

Notice when your child sucks his thumb, don't call attention to it, but try to understand the circumstances surrounding the action. Then try to attract his interest by creating new and happy situations and satisfactions.

The cost of hospital and other medical and nursing care for TB patients is finding, health education, rehabilitation, relief to families, pensions to veterans, and medical research is estimated at more than $350,000,000. Mr. Makela pointed out. To this must be added more money for needed hospital construction, depreciation of old buildings and the training of professional personnel.

We cannot even estimate how much the loss of patients' productive capacity and their possible earning power drains from the national pocketbook," he said.

"Can the people of this community afford to pay the price for a disease which can be prevented and can be cured?" Mr. Makela asked. "Christmas Seal dollars spent now for prevention of tuberculosis are an investment in human life, the most precious of our natural resources. They also mean tax dollars saved in the future."

He explained that funds contributed by Lake county residents through their purchase of Christmas Seals are not used for the treatment of TB patients or for relief of their families. "The total of Christmas Seal contributions in the United States would not be enough to pay for two weeks of treatment for all known TB patients. We believe that the most economical way of spending Christmas Seal money is on prevention of the disease.

"Every one of the deaths from TB in this community represents a human tragedy to a wide circle of people as well as a serious financial loss to the community as a whole. The TB association hopes, with the proceeds of the 1953 Christmas Seal Sale, to expand its efforts to fight the spread of this disease.

Last year Lake county citizens contributed $30,000 to support the association's work. This year $50,000 will be needed to carry on programs planned for 1954.

"This represents only a moderately expanded program," Mr. Makela said, "but I confidently believe that through generous purchases of Christmas Seals during the campaign, from November 16 through December, the people of this area will give the green light for a much more intensive effort aimed toward wiping out a disease which threatens all of us."

DEEP LAKE

The games party held at Henning Johnson's Saturday evening was given by the joint Deep Lake Improvement association and the Women's Auxiliary.

Eighteen ladies of the Auxiliary made a day of it last Tuesday, Nov. 3. After visiting Hagerström's Ironwork display in Wheeling they had fun over a leisurely luncheon at the Union hotel, in Wheeling.

Seventeen faithful workers for the cancer sewing next day at the Heckel cottage on First ave. The quota is the personal concern of each and every worker.

We extend a welcoming hand to our new neighbors, the Harold Siglers who have purchased the cottage on the lake at First ave. Our active membership chairman, Mrs. Paul Petak, lost no time enrolling Mrs. Sigler in the Auxiliary.

And speaking of Mrs. Petak, we learn that she "done herself proud" in the Farm Bureau show at Warren High school Saturday, Nov. 7. Those who saw the show say she made a mighty good soldier!

Mrs. Frank Luehr and Mrs. Harry Swanson are driving in this week Wednesday to Oak Park to have luncheon with Mrs. Joseph Heckel.

Mrs. Ebba Huber spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Ruth Scium, of Chicago, who had an accident and is suffering from a broken arm.

Mrs. Luehr has been very busy collecting bits of woolen yarn from the women at Deep Lake. She turned over a good haul to Mrs. Marguerite Hasterl of Round Lake for knitting caps for shipment to Korea. Mrs. Hasterl is working with St. Vincent's Mission on this project.

The board of directors met Friday, the 13th, at the home of Mrs. Joseph Stroh, First ave.

Antioch Residents Visit "Child City" At Mooseheart, Ill.

MOOSEHEART, ILL., Nov. 11 (Special) Twelve residents of Antioch, yesterday spent an entire day visiting the Moose-Child City. They were: Sonja Arndt, Ruth Hallwas, Susan Fox, Blanche Horton, Una Fox, Irene Noble, Maude L. Johnson, Erna Marie Toft, Marianne Palm, Mrs. Leslie Palmer, Mrs. Pearl E. Anderson and Mrs. Marilyn W. Hagen. During their visit they saw first-hand the work that fraternity is engaged in, helping to care for and educate boys and girls who have lost one or both parents.

Every year hundreds of thousands of vacationers visit this unusual community and the Antioch residents echoed the sentiments of all of these that "here is Brotherhood in action" as they toured the beautiful omni-denominational House of God, with its Catholic and Protestant chapels, and the world-famed Baby Village. Of course the Child City's stores, post office, theater, school buildings, fire department, bank and farm was also minutely inspected.

The visitors were especially impressed with the many individual dwellings of the child residents of Mooseheart. There are no dormitories or central dining halls. A mere handful of children live in each of these homes, with their own bedrooms, dining room, kitchen and living rooms. A housemother, a cook, and in some instances, a housefather, preside in these individual residences.

As is the case with all visitors to Mooseheart, they were given a personally conducted tour by a child resident.

My Favorite Story

By,
JOE ADAMS
Doctor of Design—Waukegan

The story that Larry Comstock tells about the old fashioned hardware merchant in Waukegan who displayed a couple of lawn mowers on the sidewalk in front of his store day after day, is one of my favorites.

Larry was out soliciting advertising at the time and dropped into the store to suggest to the owner that he insert a small ad in the paper to help move the lawn mowers more quickly.

"Shucks, what the use," said the merchant, "I'd only have to buy more."

Thrill Maker from start to stop

(That's T.T. Dynaflow!)

SOMETIME soon - like this week - you ought to try a Buick with Twin-Turbine Dynaflow.*

You ought to try it just to be familiar with the great advance in this fully automatic transmission that Buick engineers have accomplished.

You ought to try it just for the fun of bossing a drive where you don't do a blessed thing but steer and press the gas or the brake pedal as you go.

But, pure and simple, you ought to try it for thrills.

We mean the thrill of instant getaway response - with two turbines doing the job that one did before.

We mean the thrill of whisper-quiet acceleration - where you barely hear the sound of power build-up, or of flowing oil at work.

And, most emphatically, we mean the thrill of perfect and sublime smoothness from start to stop - the thrill of moving from standstill to and through all travel ranges in one, progressive, infinitely smooth forward "carry" without a gear ever shifting or a clutch-pedal pushed - the thrill, rarely found elsewhere, of silky smoothness in deceleration, too.

Will you be our guest at a sampling of a Buick with T.T. Dynaflow?

Will you try the sweetest, the smoothest and the simplest-to-operate automatic transmission yet devised - and powered by the highest-compression engines in Buick history, including the world's newest V8 in SUPER and ROADMASTER models?

Drop in on us this week and we'll be happy to accommodate you.

THE GREATEST BUICK
IN 50 GREAT YEARS

It's Trade-In Time for a Better Deal

Has Antique Ford

Dave Nissen of First st., has a bright shiny new Ford that is new in 1923, but so much has been added that it looks as though it had just been built. Nissen has joined the club of antique car owners and won't be satisfied until he gets a Ford 10 years older than the one he now has. Here he is shown cranking the car as was done 30 years ago, but we'll let you in on the secret—the car has a good modern starter and that is why Nissen, a ceramics model manufacturer is smiling.
